General Mahone's visit was not a success means of a handsomely-decorated and brilliantly-illuminated stand, skyrockets, fireworks, bonfires, &c., and a band of music that paraded the streets long before the meeting, headed by a transparency stating that "Mahone Speaks To-Night," a large crowd assembled on Market Square. There was, however, a great dearth of enthusiasm, was, however, a great dearth of eathnessish, and the applause that greeted the Senator was faint indeed, and confined to those on the platform and a few claquers in front.

The meeting as an "enthuze" was a failure, and the little General inbored hard

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.] New York, October 20.—The consecra-tion of Rev. Dr. Henry C. Potter as assist-ant bishop of the Diocese of New York took place this morning at Grace church. The ceremonial was probably the most imposing that has ever taken place at the consecration of a bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country, forty bishops and over six hundred clergymen taking part in the services.

Admission to the church was by ticket, and there was scarcely an inch of standing room in the building shortly after the doors were thrown open. It is obvious that the excitement of conversation must cooperate powerfully with the furmes of wine in making the brain further into the subject by observing that a man's convivial propensities are always taken, for granted if he taiks in praise of wine and appears to be very critical about it. Some of his remarks savoring of the most refined epicureanism must therefore be ascribed solely to his temperate desire to find excuses for not drinking. He was not a judge of wines, though he spreaded to be, and once allowed himself to lay down the law about Burgundy against the late Lord Sefton. A droll trait in him was that he spoke enthusiastically about certain choice wines, but he were decried any sort of laytor, even gin. A reason he once gave for "saying some thing kind" about brandy in the presence of a person addicted to spirits would have had a Mephistophelean ring if the subject of the observation had not been, humanly speaking, irreclaimable: "I could not speak ill of his only friend." "I should call brandy his enemy," interposed a last, "Ah, well, a man hates his enemy the was the mild retort.—Temple Bar.
